A Brief Report of One-day Orientation Programme on Availability and Accessing Open Source E-Contents for Student-Teacher on 11 April 2020

The outbreak of COVID-19 into a pandemic though had brought a halt the way things were working but it had also opened new avenues of teaching-learning in the due process. In compliance with the online resources and online learning, the Government of India had indeed put its vision of not only enhancing online resources but also enhancing the productive use of the lockdown period. Therefore, Centre for Teacher Education /School of Education under PMMMNMTT scheme organised a one-day orientation programme on Availability and Accessing Open Source E Contents for Student-Teacher on 11 April 2020 via internet (online mode) using Google Classroom. The motto of organizing the orientation programme was to direct and orient the students towards online learning and to make them aware of the various internet based applications and software developed by MHRD, UGC and NCERT such as Diksha, Swayam, Swayam Prabha and National Programme on Technology Enhanced Learning (NPTEL) and other so that in the period of lockdown the teaching-learning process is not disturbed. The teachers from CTE, Dr Jay Prakash Singh and Dr Huma Kayoom formed an online classroom using Google app. All the student-teacher of CTE joined that online classroom where they were oriented towards the various sites that offer rich and useful e-content for their studies and to maximise the benefits from online learning resources. All the students actively participated in the online orientation programme and put forward their queries.

when you start searching some information on google, keep the following things in your mind to get the authentic information.

1. type the key words on search engine ( google, Mozilla etc.)
2. you will get lot of URL address / web address with desired contents
3. see the reliable web address such as - university URL, government URL , some reputed journal house , famous NGO's etc. ( through the experience and practice you will get familiarize with these address.)
4. now you can access the information
